

Fostering Core Training Programme Brochure

Foster Carer 'Core' Training Programme

The training programme includes courses that are either essential or recommended learning for foster carers. This 'core training offer' is provided each year. We expect carers to undertake some courses within the first 12 months of registration; these are clearly marked as 'PRIORITY'. We expect carers to undertake all other 'essential' courses within a maximum of 6 years.

Supported Lodgings Training Programme

Supported Lodging carers can access all courses. There are some courses that are essential for Supported Lodgings carers, these are highlighted in the programme.

Introduction to the fostering programme

Core learning for foster carers is divided into pathways:

- Trauma-informed therapeutic parenting
- The fostering role
- Safeguarding

The pathways are equally important and to ensure a broad range of learning, foster carers must choose courses from each pathway within each year. This will ensure effective development of your knowledge and skills.

The training programme includes courses that are either priority or recommended learning for carers. We expect carers to undertake some courses within the first 12 months of registration; these are clearly marked as 'PRIORITY'. We expect carers to undertake all other 'recommended' courses within a maximum of 6 years.

All newly approved carers should complete a minimum of 6 training/learning activities in their first 12 months of approval or within 18 months for short breaks or 'narrow' approved carers.

All newly approved Supported Lodgings carers should complete a minimum of 3 training/learning activities including mandatory WRAP training.

After the first 12 months, all carers, including Supported Lodgings carers, should complete a minimum of 3 training/learning activities a year for the duration of their continued registration.

It is important that foster carer's learning needs are discussed with their allocated supervising social worker. The Personal Development Plan (PDP) document, which is updated annually, should enable effective discussions to take place in order to prioritise learning needs each year and identify the most relevant learning from each pathway.

Training for foster carers is now accessed using the curriculums below. Please ensure you select the correct curriculum for your role. If there are any issues with accessing training within your curriculum, please contact ESCA@essex.gov.uk

Training courses

Anxiety and trauma

The course hopes to foster thinking about anxiety in the context of trauma and how to be curious about it and its origin. We will explore how to recognise anxiety in ourselves and others, particularly when it manifests in an unusual or unexpected manner. The course hopes to improve understanding about how we might engage with and manage these feelings and fears.

Anxiety and Trauma must be completed by all Foster Carers and Supported Lodgings Carers.

This is a priority course for Supported Lodgings carers.

Child development

This course will provide you with an understanding of the basis of child development by looking at four main areas, being social/emotional, cognitive, language and physical development and their various stages.

Learners have to complete the pre-requisite Child Development E-Learning before attending this course. You will also need to complete 11 short videos and an activity sheet prior to attending the training. These are available in your curriculum in My Learning. The videos will take a total of 3.5 hours to complete and range in duration from 8 minutes to a maximum of 31 minutes. The aim is to provide you with flexibility to complete these in a way which works for you.

This course is delivered by our quadrant psychologists and forms the foundation for our trauma-informed and therapeutic approach to parenting.

Please note: This course is a priority for all carers and supported lodgings carers.

For foster carers, this course is to be completed within the first year of registration by at least 1 foster carer in the household. For Supported Lodgings carers, this course is to be completed within 2 years of registration.

Neuropsychology of parenting traumatised children

Therapeutically, reparenting a traumatised child is a very different experience than parenting children who have not had trauma in their lives. This training is designed to help foster carers understand why, by explaining some of the neurological and psychological factors involved in traumatised children's blocked trust. These factors will also be considered in relation to why carers can develop blocked care.

This course introduces ideas and strategies based around the PACE (Playfulness, Acceptance, Curiosity and Empathy) model. As a result, the participants will be equipped with a new "lens" to interpret children and young people's behaviour, as well as tools to "feel and deal." It will also equip them with ways to keep perspective, both day to day and during difficult times while fostering.

Please note: - Participants must have attended Child Development and Neuroscience courses and complete an eLearning course prior to attending this course, as the course builds on the knowledge gained in the courses.

This is a priority course for carer 1.

Reflective therapeutic parenting

Being a foster carer can be a rewarding but often challenging role. The children and young people that come into your care come with complex emotional needs.

This course builds on the knowledge and skills you have previously developed in your role as a foster carer. It is designed to be an interactive and collaborative programme that encourages you to walk in the shoes of the child and to notice your own reactions and responses in your relationship with your child. It aims to enhance your understanding of what 'therapeutic reparenting' is and to develop your confidence in putting some new strategies and techniques into practice so that you can effectively support a child using a reflective, connected and attuned approach.

Please note - Participants must have attended Connection & Loss as a prerequisite to attending this programme.

Post course - you will be required to attend a follow-up meeting along with your SSW to discuss the learning and explore how ongoing supervision will support ongoing learning needs.

Non-violent resistance (NVR)

The NVR course aims to offer a series of tools and techniques to support foster carers of children and young people who display difficult attitudes and behaviours. Carers are guided through a set of core principles based on the idea of carefully planned actions which will support them to manage their own and their children's emotions during stressful situations. As carers gain greater confidence and self-control, this enables difficult issues to be addressed in an effective manner through a process of increasing parental presence. As parental presence grows, the relationship between carer and child becomes stronger and more secure.

The course is comprised of a briefing and 10 two-hour sessions, taking place once a week. Foster carers will need to commit to attending all 10 sessions in order to successfully complete the course.

Places allocated by nomination.

Parent and child placements

The 3-hour workshop is delivered following the completion of the eLearning course and must have had an assessment to ensure that the home and family are suitable for this type of placement.

This course aims to develop an understanding of the need for and importance of parent and child fostering placements and to understand and develop the skills that carers need to have to be able to offer effective parent and child placements.

Prevent duty training (updated Aug 2023): Learn how to support people vulnerable to radicalisation - E-Learning

Prevent is part of the Government Counter-Terrorism Strategy (CONTEST). It is designed to tackle the problem of terrorism at its roots, preventing people from supporting terrorism or becoming involved in terrorism themselves.

WRAP is designed to help make you aware of your contribution in preventing vulnerable people being exploited for extremist or terrorist purposes. This gives understanding of the processes used by those who radicalise individuals and ensures that you are aware of whom to contact within Essex County Council to discuss any concerns.
